Premier League shows heated rivalry in second-round matches

By Han Kwi Hun PT

the DPRK Premier League 2022-2023 kicked off at Kim Il Sung Stadium on May 10.

The three matches on May 10-11 between the Wolmido and Hwaeppul, Rimyongsu and April 25, and Ministry of Light Industry and Sobaeksu teams suggested that the second-round matches would grow more competitive.

Hwaeppul maintains its position, form

The match between the Wolmido and the Hwaeppul attracted the attention of fans from the beginning.

Four minutes into the match, a Hwaeppul player was yellow-carded for a foul and two minutes after it Wolmido players organized an excellent shot with a two- to three-person combination, but in vain. The Hwaeppul goalkeeper saved it by beating out the ball.

The Wolmido steadily picked up the attack speed while intensifying cooperation between half-backs and forwards, whereas the Hwaeppul strengthened one-to-one defence and changed five players in the first half to create a scoring chance with fast counterattack based on side break.

Finally, the latter won the match

2-0 by scoring in the 51st and 76th minutes.

Losing yet expected

The Rimyongsu lost to the April 25 0-1 in the first-round preliminaries and tied with it 0-0 in the 2023 spring national sports festival in April.

The match that day was the third game between the two teams this year.

The Rimyongsu was defeated again 1-2 in the match.

However, it showed that the team threatened the goal of the opponent more frequently until 27 minutes into the match and scored a thrilling point at the end of the match.

Though the April 25 won the game, football fans also congratulated Rimyongsu players who showed their potentiality, the new looks of the team.

They expressed their expectation that if it makes progress at the current rate, it would beat the April 25 in the near future.

All are strong

The Sobaeksu and Ministry of Light Industry teams also played a very close match.

The former ranked sixth in both the first-round Premier League and the 2023 spring national sports festival and the latter was placed ninth and tenth in them respectively. So football fans predicted that the Sobaeksu would win.

As if to prove that they were right, it scored the opening goal in 28 minutes.

But in the whole course of the match the Ministry of Light Industry team showed that it was not weak at all.

It unfolded thrilling scenes in succession by threatening the opponent's goal in the 35th, 47th, 62nd, 73rd and 84th minutes.

Its game play based on its tactics of strong one-to-one defence, close combination between defenders and forwards and perfect pass was enough to show the fans its new looks.

Saying that the Ministry of Light Industry team has developed a lot, the spectators added it should be noted that winners are never weak.

anything else along with human development and have actively used it in their life. Different countries have selected typical dog varieties as national dogs which were acclimatized to their climatic and soil conditions for a long time and contributed greatly to national life.

Korea's national dog is Phungsan. The Phungsan mirrors the spirit of the Korean nation as it is a native one with all characters peculiar to the Korean breed.

The dog is very clever and mild in ordinary times. It follows its owner well, but is very fierce to its rival. It is very nimble and tenacious and fights any wild beast to the end without giving up. Other dog species usually bite the back of their rivals' neck when they fight, but the Phungsan is featured by making a frontal attack on its opponent to bite the throat at a go.

This represents the wisdom the DPRK.

and valour of the Korean people who hate injustice, value moral obligation and show no mercy to provocateurs.

And the temperament of the Phungsan, which is capable of defeating any big and wild animals by dint of close cooperation, reflects the fine qualities of the Korean people who help and lead one another forward with a strong sense of unity.

The dog has long been used in the Koreans' life.

Many stories about the dog which did a righteous job for its master have been handed down in different parts of the country. Since the dog was widely used in fight, guard duty and hunting by the anti-Japanese volunteers corps in the former Phungsan area, its bravery and tenacious disposition were known to the world.

The Phungsan dog was registered as a national living monument of World Wrestling Day observed

KCNA

n event was held to commemorate World Wrestling Day at the Badminton Gymnasium on Chongchun Street in Pyongyang on May 23.

It was attended by officials of the DPRK Wrestling Association and coaches and players in the sports sector.

The speaker at the event said that the DPRK Wrestling Association has so far contributed greatly to the development of wrestling technique since its founding, adding that in that course many world-famous wrestling stars were produced, including a twice Olympic gold medallist and twice world champions.

He hoped that the event would mark a significant occasion in further kindling public interest in wrestling and finding many more excellent reserve players to develop the wrestling technology of the country.

There were a demonstration of young players' basic wrestling techniques and a game.
